Prevent Strategy

Reducing risk of radicalisation and terrorism

The Prevent strategy aims to stop people becoming terrorists or supporting terrorism. The health sector is involved in Objective 2 and 3:

- Supporting Vulnerable People
  - To prevent people from being drawn into terrorism and ensure that they are given appropriate advice and support.
- Working with key sectors
  - To work with sectors and institutions where there are risks of radicalisation that we need to address.

Prevent is part of existing safeguarding responsibilities for the health sector, not an additional job.

Prevent Strategy

Healthcare workers have the opportunity to refer vulnerable individuals for support in a pre-criminal space by:

- Recognising vulnerable adults, children and young people who may be at risk of radicalisation;
- Working in partnership to reduce risk and protect the individual and
- Providing adequate and necessary support as part of a proportionate multi-agency response to any concerns.

Vulnerability factors

- Radicalisation is a process, not a one-off event
- There is no single profile of a terrorist – there is no checklist to measure someone against
- This is not about race, religion or ethnicity – the programme is to prevent the exploitation of susceptible people.

Prevent in action

Key challenges

- Correctly interpreting signs of radicalisation
- Being aware of the support that is available
- Being confident in referring the person for support.

- It is about early intervention to protect and divert people away before any criminal act has taken place

- There are many factors that can make someone vulnerable to radicalisation
- It should not be assumed that specific characteristics necessarily indicate that a person is either committed to terrorism or may become a terrorist.
- The assessment framework separates factors into three dimensions. These are shown on the next slide.
