

Keele
University

RAISING CONCERNS

If you are a medical student or doctor in training and have serious concerns that might affect patient safety or that is about unprofessional behaviour, either clinically or in your clinical teaching, you should do one or more of the following:

Speak to your peers and see if they agree with you that the concerns that you have are genuine

Consult Trust policies available on the Trust Intranet

Speak to the Hospital Dean/Deputy Dean

Speak to your Year Lead/Educational or Clinical Supervisor/Professional Development Tutor

Check relevant GMC guidance http://www.gmc-uk.org/guidance/ethical\_guidance/raising\_concerns.asp

Contact Student Support on 01782 734674 or email: medicine.support@keele.ac.uk

If you feel that local advice or help is not possible you can also get confidential advice via the GMC:

Email: standards@gmc-uk.org or call Standards and Ethics on 0207 189 5404

Professor Robert Kirby, MD, FRCS
Professor of Clinical Education and Surgery and Consultant Surgeon
UHNH Hospital Dean, Keele University
Medical School

University Hospitals of North Midlands 